

Next year we are piloting a special program with this course where students will be able to take an end of course assessment for college credit. This is similar to what is done in the AP courses and the price will be the same. The credit will be administered by Aquinas College and we will be taking a tour of the college in September. The credits will be transferable to other colleges and universities.

Could you please inform the future precalc students of Northview that I would like them to sign in on Khan Academy and use the following code to make me their coach.

Class code: M8JMDJ

They are expected to record 8 hours of practice time over the course of the summer.

That is less than an hour a week.

The course is a review of Algebra II concepts.
